COOKIES

This website uses Google Analytics, a web analysis service which is provided by Google Inc. Google Analytics uses text files-called “cookies”, that are stored in your computer and that enable to analyse how you use the website.

The information about your use of this website generated by the cookie (including your IP address) is transferred to a Google server in the United States and is saved there. Google will use this information in order to analyze your use of the website, compile reports on website activity for the website operators and provide further services related to website usage and internet usage. Google will also, where applicable, transfer this information to third parties where this is a legal requirement, or insofar as third parties process this data on Google’s behalf. Google will not link your IP address to other data saved by Google under any circumstances. You can prevent the installation of cookies by appropriately setting your browser software; however, it is worth being aware that this may result in not being able to use all functions of this website to the full extent.

By using this website you accept that your data collected by Google can be used as described above and for the aforementioned purpose.

PLUG-INS FROM SOCIAL MEDIA PLATFORMS

The STRIDE website use plug-ins from various third-party social media platforms (Facebook, Twitter, etc.). When you visit a website that contains such a plug-in, it may automatically transmit data to the third parties. If, at the same time, you are logged into the relevant social network, your visit on the website may be assigned to your account, depending on the provider. STRIDE has no influence over this data transfer.

Information on Facebook's «Like» button

Facebook’s «Like» button is used on our website. If you are a member of Facebook, you can link your Facebook profile to this website stating that you like it. Facebook is operated by Facebook Incorporated (Facebook Inc.), a company headquartered in the USA. When you visit a website that contains a «Like» button, your browser automatically establishes a connection to the servers of Facebook Inc. This gives Facebook Inc. access to your user data, which may be stored. If you are logged into your Facebook account while visiting our website, Facebook Inc. is also able to assign your user data to your profile. Once you have clicked on the «Like» button, we no longer have any control over the user data Facebook Inc. collects about you. Further information on the purpose, the extent and the use of the collected data can be found in Facebook’s Data Use Policy.
